Not all success stories follow conventional paths. Some transcend boundaries, challenge the status quo, and redefine what it means to lead in a rapidly evolving world. For Dr. Aysha Ehsan, leadership is defined not by titles or accolades, but by vision, adaptability, and the courage to innovate across domains. Her work continues to inspire a new generation of leaders to think beyond boundaries, create meaningful impact, and build a more inclusive and progressive future.

“True leadership is not defined by titles or accolades, but by the vision and courage to innovate across boundaries.”

From Academic Foundations to Corporate Leadership

“Education gave her the foundation to understand systems, people, and potential, but her vision extended far beyond the lecture hall.”

Dr. Ehsan began her professional journey in higher education, where she built over a decade of expertise in subjects ranging from Cyber Law and Business Law to Strategy Implementation and Entrepreneurship.

Known for her hands-on approach, she transformed curriculum design into a strategic tool, ensuring alignment with the UAE Ministry of Higher Education's standards while preparing students for real-world challenges.

IKEA HELPS FIX SKYRIM'S CLUTTER PROBLEM

IKEA has entered the world of The Elder Scrolls V: Skyrim with KALLAX Storageborn, a free downloadable companion designed to solve one of the game's most familiar frustrations: having too much stuff. Created by Mother in collaboration with Kinggath Creations, the campaign turns IKEA's expertise in storage into an actual gameplay mechanic.

In Skyrim, carrying too many items causes players to become over-encumbered and move more slowly. KALLAX Storageborn addresses this by offering unlimited storage, automatic loot collection and a way to clear clutter from players' virtual homes. The sentient shelving unit is introduced through a new quest that takes players to a mysterious Dwemer furniture store.

Once assembled, KALLAX can be summoned using the Dragon Shout "AYE KEY YAH". The experience also includes a clutter-filled dungeon and a boss battle against a Clutter Golem, adding IKEA's storage concept directly into the game's fantasy world.

The campaign builds on IKEA's previous experiments in gaming, including its virtual Roblox store, but takes the idea further by making the brand's core expertise part of the gameplay itself. KALLAX Storageborn is available free through Bethesda Game Studios' in-game Creations menu, supported by digital, social, in-store and PR activity.

AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT FROM VASELINE

We heard you. We agreed.

Following extensive review (by which we mean approximately one video, watched over 1 million times, facts), Vaseline would like to announce our rebrand.

Welcome to Baseline, effective immediately.

Same tub, Same jelly. Same uses you've been making up since 1870. Just, as it turns out, a slightly different first letter depending on where in the world you're saying it.

Because that's really what this week is about. Vaseline has been pronounced, adapted, and made local in every corner of the world for 150 years. Every accent, every version, every "wrong" way of saying it is just proof of how far the jar has traveled. This week, we're celebrating one of those versions properly.

Full credit to @mindaylee_ for the discovery, who we have taken the liberty of appointing as the CEO of Baseline, effective immediately, no interview required.

To everyone stitching, duetting, or simply enjoying watching a 150 year old brand get gently corrected by its own global community: welcome. We're here for it. We might even learn something.

Vaseline Renames Itself “Baseline” After a Mispronunciation Goes Viral

Vaseline has turned an accidental mispronunciation into a playful social media moment, temporarily rebranding itself as “Baseline”. The idea came from beauty creator Min Day Lee, whose viral video about her Vaseline collection referred to the skincare brand by the unexpected name. The video quickly surpassed two million views on Instagram, while viewers began repeating and remixing the word “Baseline” across social media.

Vaseline responded by fully embracing the joke with a mock rebrand across its social channels. The brand created a new “Baseline” logo, redesigned product packaging and announced the change with a tongue-in-cheek statement, claiming that the rebrand followed an “extensive review” that was essentially based on one viral video.

The brand also credited Min Day Lee for the accidental discovery and jokingly appointed her as CEO of Baseline. The response demonstrates how Vaseline quickly turned an unexpected moment from its online community into branded content, rather than trying to correct the original mistake.

The move also fits with Vaseline's broader approach to community-driven creativity. Its Vaseline Originals platform turns viral beauty hacks created by consumers into real products while recognising and rewarding the creators behind them.

AG1 Puts Creatine's Airport Problem Straight Into the Tray

AG1 has turned an awkward travel problem for fitness enthusiasts into an airport advertising campaign for AG1 Pro. The brand has placed advertisements directly inside airport security trays and across terminals in Denver, Austin and Seattle, targeting travellers who regularly carry loose creatine powder through airport security.

The campaign uses lines such as “Is your creatine travel routine raising a few eyebrows?” and “Is your DIY-packed creatine causing delays? There's a better way”. The message promotes AG1 Pro, the brand's formula that combines AG1 with creatine in individual sachets, offering a more convenient alternative to carrying a separate bag of powder.

What makes the campaign stand out is the placement itself. By putting the advertising inside the security trays, AG1 reaches travellers at exactly the moment when loose white powder can become an uncomfortable part of the airport experience. The campaign also appears on large video screens and glass wraps around security areas, extending the idea throughout the terminals.

The airport setting allows AG1 to turn a specific customer inconvenience into the central idea of the campaign, using the environment itself to make the message immediately relevant.
